Case Study

Shamba Centre for Food & Climate is a Switzerland-based NGO established in 2022 whose mission is a hunger-free world achieved through innovative policies and business models, with a strong focus on nature, climate, and empowering marginalized communities in the food system, advocating interconnected solutions to drive sustainability and inclusivity within global communities.

Problem Statement

Shamba Center faced significant challenges, including a lack of financial visibility due to disjointed data flow to the core finance system, requiring extensive manual work for financial reporting and cash flow projections. Operational inefficiencies were evident in the disconnected recording of salaries, expenses, and projects, leading to the manual creation of operational reports and the absence of a system to track project progress.

Solution Provided

To address these challenges, we implemented a comprehensive solution that integrated financial and operational systems, providing clear visibility into financial data and automating reporting processes. This integration streamlined project tracking, linking it directly to financial transactions for enhanced project management. Additionally, we automated manual processes such as approvals and expense submissions, reducing paperwork. The introduction of a modern dashboard with visual representations of critical insights further empowered Shamba Center with efficient data-driven decision-making capabilities.

As we recap the journey with Infragist, we invite you to envision a future where digital transformation is not just a goal but a reality, fostering growth and success.

Take the next step in your digital transformation journey with Infragist, where innovation meets excellence, offering unparalleled value and benefits.
